

Advertising and public relations schedule

Definition

"Csmforex"	means	www.csmforex.com
"User"	means	The person who registers with the application www.csmforex.com according to the registration procedure specified until complete.
"Personal area"	means	The user area which will have only users who have the right to access and edit personal information.
"Advertising space"	means	The general areas on various pages of www.csmforex.com and personal space in some parts specified.

1. The csmforex reserves the right to advertise in all areas in www.csmforex.com and some personal space that defined by csmforex.
2. For advertising and publicize various news to users which the content may be related to the csmforex itself or other content that is not related to csmforex.
However, other content that is not related to csmforex must be approved or authorized by csmforex only.
3. The content of advertising and public relations must not be related to pornographic content, illegal things, Crime or other content that csmforex considers that not appropriate to appear on this website. Csmforex reserves the right to cancel, suspend the display of such content which no need for prior report.
4. csmforex cannot verify that display of advertising and publicity content or links from advertising and public relations will follow Article 3.

Therefore, csmforex reserves the right to assume responsibility in showing advertisements and public relations that cause damage against property or other damages to any other person in any case.